

PHIL MADSEN

3 years after the release of his first single “Beach (Follow Me)”, Phil Madsen is back in the spotlight with “Dancing on the moon” from his forth coming Album “Mr Yellow Tree”.

The journey to create this album really started back in 2005 when “Beach” was being played on radio around NZ. What wasn’t realised at the time was that it would take a further 3 years until Phil had finished production and the album was ready to be mastered for release.

The mastering of “Mr Yellow Tree” was completed at the world renowned Studio 301 Sydney. While the release date for the album isn’t confirmed at this stage, Phil’s first single “Dancing on the moon” is sure to please.

The single is a not too serious, and is intended to be a fun uplifting track; great for a time when the world is serious and attitudes can tend towards doom & gloom.

Music has always been Phil's escape and we believe that this song will prove the same for you and have you toe tapping and singing the lyrics in no time.

When performing “Dancing on the moon” live it appeals to a wide audience.

Phil has prepared a total of 19 tracks. There were many more that he wanted to include, but after 3 years he realised that it was time for the music to see the light of day. In the eyes of this artist the job is never complete - something can always be improved and there is always another track which should be on the album.

Keep an eye on Phil’s website for further announcements as to single releases and ultimately the album release. Do yourself a favour close your door turn it up the volume and escape by playing “dancing on the moon”
